Do you know about the Methodist Modern Art Collection?

From the early church to the present day images have played a crucial role in the exploration of the Christian faith. Since the catacombs of Rome the gospel has been articulated as much in image as it has in word.

The Methodist Modern Art Collection takes its place in this long tradition, providing an opportunity for new encounters and a whole range of conversations that are both missional and pastoral. To view the collection visit methodist.org.uk

Ghislaine Howard - The washing of the feet

The figures, set against a rich green/blue background, completely dominate the composition. Their gestures and the rhythms of their bodies focus attention on the crucial moment of the narrative.

The shape of the bowl and the warmth of the skin tones suggest Christianity's Middle Eastern origins. The dress is simple and workman-like; these figures could be from any age and country. The simple, everyday act of washing a guest's feet before offering hospitality becomes, through the words and actions of Jesus, pregnant with significance.
